

Circle of Support

Workshop

Overview

The idea of an active support network is really an old idea in our society. For people with disabilities, Circles of Support are an idea and practice that has been around for over 25 years. Circles of Support are not a service, team meeting or program but rather a group of people who are intentionally invited to come together in friendship and support of a person with disability, for the purpose of achieving their goals and protecting their interests into the future. Circles of Support can enable: more people in the life of each individual who are not paid to be there, an increase in the number of new and positive roles that people hold, reconnection with family members, expanded social and economic opportunities, an important safeguard for the future and a better life.

This course assists participants to understand Circles of Support so that they can be of authentic value to people who are vulnerable by exploring the motivations, intent, facilitation, energies and shortcomings of Circles of Support. This course will also assist participants to avoid turning the concept into yet another trend, fad or agency mechanism.

In this workshop participants will learn about:

- Intentions and possible purposes of a Circle of Support,
- The benefits of Circles of Support,
- The key dimensions for a successful Circle of Support,
- The practicalities, of Circles of Support,
- How to recruit, invite and support Circle members,
- How to take the steps to start or strengthen a Circle of Support,
- The possible limitations and how to overcome common areas of challenge, and
- How to engage a vision for an inclusive life.

This is a practical workshop and will use interactive exercises, reflection and discussion! Stories will also be shared.

Who is this workshop for?

People with a disability, friends, families, allies, advocates, professionals

Presenters

Deb Rouget is the CEO of Belonging Matters. For nearly 30 years, she has been involved in the lives of people with a disability and their families and has gained much practical experience and wisdom about imagining and designing supports that enable people with a disability to have typical opportunities in the community. Through her work at Belonging Matters, she instigated the Building Community Networks project which facilitates Circles of Support. In this project, through actively facilitating a number of Circles of Support, Deb has learnt what it takes to establish, maintain and harness people's enthusiasm and skills to enable a full, meaningful and inclusive life.

Teresa Micallef has always chosen to work at the cutting edge of change in community, and has worked alongside people with disabilities and their families for over 20 years. She has been the Coordinator of a family governed service called Living Distinctive Lives for the past 9 years. Currently she is the Project Manager of Building Community Networks and has been impressed by the power, creativity and resilience of people who experience disability, their families and networks. In just a short time, she has seen the incredible impact of engaging positively with a person's Circle of Support and how it can lead to the creation of a good life and safeguard the future.
